Company Profile

Pacific Industrial group recognizes that to be trusted by the society, and prospective healthy operation are the basics of CSR. Through our business operation in each country and area, we aim at "the true Glocal Company" which can contribute to social sustainable development.

CSR Topics

Environmental Conservation Activity
Since 2009, We have been working on an "Forest Activity of Pacific SATSUMA, Woodland" by collaboration with Gifu Pref. and Ogaki City. We hold events such as tree planting or forest walk regularly, and through those activities, we deepen understandings about global environment preservation and biological diversity.

Cultivation activities for future generation
As a good corporate citizen, we promote cultivation activities for future generation in order to realize an affluent society and contribute sustainable development. We give a science class and factory tour for local elementary students to convey fish-to-fish and promote experience of making things.

CO2 Reduction Activity
For the prevention of global warming, we are working on reducing the CO2 discharge and trying for eco-friendly products, manufacturing methods, and technical development. We have introduced solar photovoltaic system from 2013, and it has been operating in all 17 plants in Gifu-pref and in Kyushu plant.

"Creativity and Innovation"

Message

Shinya Ogawa President

Since its establishment in Japan in 1930 as a venture company to manufacture valve cores locally, Pacific Industrial Co., Ltd. has been continuously expanding its line of business. This now includes tire valves business, automotive stamping, plastic molding, dies business, control devices for air conditioners, and electronic devices business. Further, along with the rapid globalization of the markets, we have developed our overseas operations in Taiwan, Korea, U.S.A., Thailand, China and Belgium. During this period, “Modernization and Internationalization” have always been themes of Pacific Industrial Group and we have striven for innovations in technology and manufacturing, based on the concept of “manufacturing is developing human resources”. In order to respond to the expectations of all related parties such as customers, suppliers, shareholders, local communities and employees, we are determined to further strengthen our physical constitution and to restructure our business in line with the changes in the world marketplace, aiming at becoming a global and creative company fit for the 21st century. Our objectives include not only manufacturing reliable products, but also protecting the global environment, growing globally and contributing to the development of the local communities. As we strive to achieve our objectives, we would much appreciate your continuous support and guidance.

What is TPMS?
The Pressure Monitoring System (TPMS) utilizes a sensor within a tire to measure the tire pressure and temperature, and sends this information wirelessly to a sensor device in the car body, notifying the driver of any irregularities. This system consists of transmitter devices, receiving antenna, receiver device, and display module. Pacific Industrial produces transmitter devices out of 4 components.

Pacific Industrial, who began operation as a manufacturer of automobile valve core, developed the TPMS transmitter as value-added next generation valve using its unique technologies cultivated over many years.
